Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.This book helps doctoral candidates design and write a thesis that hangs together with well-integrated components. In the social sciences doctoral research design has 10 key components which work together dynamically as the research is being done to create a whole finished thesis. They are: 1.The research questions addressed 2.The ontological position adopted 3.The epistemological position adopted 4.The domains of literature chosen for review 5.The context/s of study selected 6.The sample selected from within the context or contexts 7.The types and extent of data collected and analysed 8.The theoretical lens through which the data are viewed 9.How the outcomes of data analysis are presented 10.The conclusions drawn and claims made These form part of an empirically-based thesis and are carefully scrutinized by examiners. So, making a thesis hang together properly involves planning and implementing a research project which has internal coherence and congruence between the different components. They operate together to achieve the goal of a strong, low-risk thesis. There is a clear chain of evidence and argument which is assembled and deployed to answer the research questions, making claims which are robust and sustainable. A design which doesn't hang together has internal disconnections; there are components which don't mesh properly. This means that conclusions and claims are shaky, the research questions are not fully or convincingly answered and that there is a failure in the logic connecting two or more of the components. That situation can be a disaster because when the thesis is examined and these flaws are identified there will be major changes needed to the very structure of the work: perhaps more and different data will be required;...
