It is a single of the best pdf. Better than ever, though I am quite late in starting to read this one. I realized this ebook from my dad and I encouraged this publication to understand.

The Mobile Exploration System Project (MEX) at NASA Ames Research Center has been conducting studies into hybrid communication networks for future planetary missions. These networks consist of space-based communication assets connected to ground-based Internets and planetary surface-based mobile wireless networks. These hybrid mobile networks have been deployed in rugged field locations in the American desert and the Canadian arctic for support of science and simulation activities on at least six occasions. This work has been conducted over the past five years resulting in evolving architectural complexity, improved component characteristics and better analysis and test methods. A rich set of data and techniques have resulted from the development and field testing of the communication network during field expeditions such as the Houghton Mars Project and NASA Mobile Agents Project. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
