Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Ohio History Teachers Journal, Vol. 20: March, 1916; Issued in January, March, May, and November The aim of the Ohio History Teachers Association is the improvement of the methods of the teaching of history and civics, and the development of the spirit of cooperation among the teachers of these subjects in the state. The best means of developing the interests of the organization and rendering the most service to the greatest number is through the publication of a bulletin. According to present plans the Ohio State University will publish a bulletin, controlled by a board of editors, which is to be the official organ of the history teachers of Ohio. The editors have decided that the interests entrusted to them will perhaps be best subserved by issuing four numbers a year, namely, in January, March, May, and November, one or two of these numbers to comprise papers presented before the annual meeting of the Association, and the others to contain a full discussion of some one topic of special interest to readers of the bulletin. As the Association held two meetings in 1915, the present number will be found to embody such papers as were available from both of those meetings. It is expected that the next, or May, number will deal with the teaching of English history in our high schools. The third, or November, number will probably contain the papers concerning the national aspects of Ohio history that were read at the meeting of October, 1915, together with the program papers of the session to be held in October, 1916; and it is hoped that the fourth number (January, 1917,) may...
